

NFL POWER RANKINGS

WEEK 4: Luke Lapinski

| RANK | TEAM | COMMENT |
|------|---------------|---|
| 1 | KANSAS CITY | Remind me again why Kareem Hunt wasn't drafted until the third round? |
| 2 | NEW ENGLAND | If they played in a division where they had to win more than 6 games to take first place, this could get interesting. |
| 3 | ATLANTA | Finding new ways to hold on to fourth quarter leads. Seven months too late. |
| 4 | DALLAS | Hardly dominant, but there just aren't a lot of great teams right now. |
| 5 | PITTSBURGH | Big game in Baltimore against the rival Ravens next week. |
| 6 | GREEN BAY | Aaron Rodgers alone can keep you among the top teams this season. |
| 7 | DENVER | Need proof it was a weird week in the NFL? The Broncos lost to the Bills. |
| 8 | OAKLAND | True Super Bowl contenders rarely ever look as bad as the Raiders did Sunday night. |
| 9 | TENNESSEE | Starting to look like the team on the rise that everybody thought they could be. |
| 10 | PHILADELPHIA | Winning despite the fact their leading rusher is on pace for just 600 yards this season. |
| 11 | BALTIMORE | What happens in London, stays in London. Hopefully. |
| 12 | DETROIT | Got about as close to going 3-0 as possible. |
| 13 | CAROLINA | Kind of remarkable they're 2-1 while averaging just 15 points per game. |
| 14 | SEATTLE | It's getting tougher to ignore their offensive issues. |
| 15 | MINNESOTA | Adam Thielen (299) and Stefon Diggs (293) are No. 2 and No. 3 among all NFL receivers in yards right now. |
| 16 | WASHINGTON | Back-to-back wins over seemingly decent opponents in the Rams and Raiders. |
| 17 | TAMPA BAY | One week, they have all the promise in the world. Next week, they're rushing for 26 yards and losing to Case Keenum. |
| 18 | LA RAMS | Offense looks so much better with Sean McVay as the coach. Especially when they play the Colts and 49ers. |
| 19 | BUFFALO | If they could've scored at all against the Panthers in Week 2, they'd be 3-0 right now. |
| 20 | JACKSONVILLE | And they get the Jets next. Everything's coming up Jacksonville. |
| 21 | HOUSTON | How many times are the Texans going to almost beat the Patriots? |
| 22 | ARIZONA | Missed opportunities are piling up. And those tend to turn into losses in this league. |
| 23 | NEW ORLEANS | Had to have that win over the Panthers to salvage their season. |
| 24 | MIAMI | Really hard to look past the fact they just lost to the Jets. |
| 25 | NY GIANTS | Good thing sports fans in New York are very forgiving. |
| 26 | CHICAGO | A win for the Bears and Cutler had a bad week. Chicago fans must be ecstatic. |
| 27 | LA CHARGERS | Seems like they should be better, but the fact remains they're still winless. |
| 28 | CINCINNATI | Finally scored a touchdown though, so they've got that going for them. Which is nice. |
| 29 | INDIANAPOLIS | If Andrew Luck ever comes back, does Jacoby Brissett become a trade chip? |
| 30 | NY JETS | Probably the highest they'll get on this list in 2017. |
| 31 | SAN FRANCISCO | At least now they're losing in entertaining fashion. |
| 32 | CLEVELAND | Well they just lost to the Colts, so... |
